

What is a rewards credit card?

Audio transcript

A rewards card is a credit card that gives you rewards when you use it.

Rewards can be points you exchange for shopping vouchers, or they might be frequent flier miles or cashback.

Although seeing your rewards add up might be attractive, you should always take care to pay the balance in full every month. Otherwise, the interest on what you borrow might be more than the rewards are worth.